ROLAND H. TRICKETT DIES
FROM INFANTILE PARALYSIS
Windham Road Child, Aged Two, Had Been Ill Since Last Monday.

The town of Windham recorded its first death from infantile paralysis Saturday morning when Roland H. Trickett, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Trickett of Windham road, died at 3 o'clock, at the home of his parents. The child, who was taken ill last Monday morning, did not show signs of the disease until Wednesday when a physician was called in on the case and had the child put under quarantine. The first signs of paralysis were apparent in the legs, but the next day other parts of the body had become affected and the breathing organs of the child and caused death. Besides the parents a five-year-old child, Ernest, survives. The funeral was at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Bruce of Hartford.

At 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon the automobile owned by the firm of Doyle & Murphy and driven by Mr. Murphy, collided with a car driven by Herbert T. Bruce of Hartford, at the corner of Windham and Main streets. The accident happened as Mr. Bruce, who was coming up Main street, turned to the left in an attempt to avoid hitting the other car, which was coming down Windham street. As a result of the move the cars came to rest on the south side of Main street, damaging both cars to some extent. The front axle of the Doyle car was sprung and the fender was bent. The other car was damaged to a greater extent as a headlight was smashed and a wheel was broken, besides bending the front axle.

Chief E. H. Richmond has notified Bruce to appear in court this morning on the charge of violating the traffic ordinance of the city.

CASE PRONOUNCED SUICIDE
Antonio Zampolli, of Stafford Springs, was struck and instantly killed by a northbound passenger train on the C. V. railroad at 10:45 Saturday morning. The accident, which happened near South Windham, mangled the body terribly, parts of the body being strewn along the track for a distance of a hundred feet, so that identification was possible only through some papers found in the clothes worn by the young man. After listening to Conductor Spafford's story of the accident, Medical Examiner Dr. L. I. Mason reported it as a case of suicide and gave permission for the removal of the body.

The young man, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zampolli, had recently lost both feet as the result of having them frozen last winter and this is thought to have led to his despondency. He had been missing from his home for the past week and all efforts to locate him had failed. The last seen of him before his death was last Tuesday when he was on a trolley car bound for Rockville.

As the accident happened on a curve, the young man may have become confused by the approaching train and in an endeavor to cross the track was struck and killed. This is thought possible as he was handicapped by having to get about on false feet.

South Windham 16, Jewett City 2.
The South Windham baseball team administered a defeat to the Jewett City team Saturday afternoon, that was very decisive. The game was a walkover for the South Windham boys who showed what they could do both in the field and at the bat. The final score stood 16 to 2.

Lebanon Defeats Local Team.
A picked-up team from this city went to Lebanon Saturday afternoon and met by the team representing that town in a game that resulted in the complete defeat of the local boys. The game was a loosely played affair as the score, 11 to 7, shows.

FUNERAL.

Mrs. Ella W. Loomis.
The funeral of Mrs. Ella W. Loomis was held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Episcopal church in Windham Center. Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald of Lebanon officiated at the services. The bearers were Gilbert Smith, Dewitt Lockham, Charles Woodard and Mr. Abbe. Burial was in the Windham cemetery. Funeral Director Jay M. Shepard had charge of the arrangements.

No New Cases of Infantile Paralysis.
Health Officer Dr. C. A. Jenkins stated yesterday afternoon that no new cases of infantile paralysis had been reported to him and that the cases now in the city are improving. The Hornberger child on Jackson street has improved to such an extent that the patient is able to be up and around the house. The child of the Dion girl on Lebanon avenue has passed the acute stage and the paralysis is not as noticeable in the arm as it has been. Although the child is expected to recover it is thought that the right arm, which is the affected part of the body, was permanent, paralyzed, but more improvement is looked for.

Health Officer Dr. F. E. Wilcox of the town of Windham, stated that as yet no new cases had been reported to him and that the conditions remain the same as in the past, except for the death of the Trickett child. The doctor stated that the home where the child died will remain under quarantine for at least two weeks as the people in the house were in contact with the child before he was stricken with the disease. The town of Windham is now clear of the disease as the quarantine on the Trickett home is only a precautionary measure taken to stop the spread of the disease.

Brief Mention.

Miss Jessie James of the local telephone exchange is out of town for a week vacation.

Officer Paulhus is away on a week vacation, his beat being covered by Officer Cronin.

Frank H. Demming of this city has purchased the Kingsbury farm in Andover and will soon take possession.

Both the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Ancient Order of Hibernians of this city are to be represented at the state convention to be held in Middletown this week.

The clambake given by a local French society, at Ayer's Grove, Sunday, was attended by many people from out of town as well as a number of local people.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Smith of this city are to spend two weeks in New Hampshire. Mrs. Smith, who has been a patient at the St. Joseph's hospital, was discharged from that institution Saturday.

Sold Liquor to Posted Woman.
Frank Potter was before the court Saturday morning, charged with furnishing liquor to a posted woman. As the accused stated that he did not know that the woman was posted, he was given the minimum penalty for his deed, which was ten dollars and costs. The fine which amounted to $17.50 was paid.

John Stovenizka will appear in court this morning to answer the charge of intoxication.

Steal Change from Henry Snyder's on Church Street.

About 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon five or six boys, all under 12, broke into the bakery on Church street owned by Henry Snyder and stole two or three dollars in change. The break was made through a screen door in the rear of the building. Later in the day Chief E. H. Richmond located the culprits and ordered them to appear in court this morning.

Moose at Norwich High Jinks.
Many members of the local order of Moose went to Norwich Sunday and participated in the bake that was given by the Norwich lodge. Among the many amusements of the day was a ball game between the teams of the two lodges, which afforded much amusement for the onlookers. The local men returned home late in the evening.

Outing at the Lakes.
Many took advantage of the good weather Sunday and went to the lakes in this vicinity. Owing to the rigid quarantine rules in effect in Norwich and New London many people chose to remain in their homes rather than go through the formality that these rules require.

Maintaining Health Precautions.
Although there has been placed at every entrance to the city notices to the effect that children under the age of 16 will be allowed to enter, the officials are on the lookout for violators of the rule, and up to date only a few have tried to get in. A mother with a young child was in town Saturday, but was discovered before he had been here very long and he was requested to get out of town, after he had the child told to him, which he did. In order to be on the safe side a number of people have called up the mayor and other officials to make sure of what they can do and still keep within quarantine. Some people have asked if they may be allowed to have visitors from out of town come to the homes in this city. These people have been advised to have their friends remain home, but as there is no rule prohibiting them from coming in, they are allowed to come.

One of the officials of the city stated that as yet there had been no complaints from the people residing within the city limits, but a few residing on the outskirts think that they are unfortunate and have made it manifest on different occasions.

Chicken Dinner for South Manchester Party.

About 150 ardent motorcyclists and prominent citizens of South Manchester gathered at Lake Wampanoag yesterday and partook of a chicken dinner furnished by the Madden brothers of that place. After the dinner there were a number of speeches, followed by some fact motorcycle races that were the feature of the day. The meet, which has become an annual affair of the motorcyclists of Manchester, was called off with the idea of forming a club. Judge Robert E. Carney acted as master of ceremonies during the day.

Willimantic Camp Ground

Interesting Services Held During Sunday—Attention Given to Mission Work—Speakers of Experience Heard—Entertainment Saturday Evening—Late Arrivals in the Grove

The first Sunday at the camp meeting was most beautiful as to sunlight and temperature.

The tabernacle was well filled at the 10 a. m. service held under the auspices of the camp ground auxiliary of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Praise Service.
A praise service of 20 minutes was conducted by the choir leader, Ernest W. Nafziger, by Kate Douglas Wiggin, music by Franz Abt, was well sung by Mrs. A. T. Andrew of Providence, with Mrs. W. W. Carter of Rutherford, N. J., accompanying.

Importance of Work.
Mrs. Prentiss, president of the auxiliary, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Annie O. Clark, field secretary, who emphasized the great need for society among the women of the land. The country can rise no higher than the women. God wants the girls, the future mothers and home makers. Bishop Hobart says if the women fail in America they will fail in the foreign field. The two societies, the home and foreign, work in perfect harmony. Among the many beneficent institutions of the Home Missionary society are 40 industrial homes, 25 mission schools, 41 deaconess institutions, six orphanages, besides others scattered throughout the southland, the west, Alaska, and Porto Rico. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. G. G. Scrivenor, Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

At 2 o'clock a fair sized audience gathered at the tabernacle. The weather was much warmer. A number of visitors were noticed. Mrs. Costello Lippitt, president of the camp ground auxiliary, introduced the speaker after the song service. Scripture was read by Mrs. E. E. Colver of Manchester, and prayer was offered by Mrs. S. P. Currier of Chelsea, Mass. Brother Nafziger sang a solo. Miss Sadie L. Davis of Providence, who has visited mission fields, gave incidents of her trip to Manila, Korea and China. Among several exhibits shown were a Filipino dress, a Korean cap and a pair of tiny shoes formerly worn by a Chinese woman who had discarded them when embracing Christianity.

At the close of the service District Superintendent Scrivenor alluded to the fact that Rev. D. F. Dodd was not present because he was preaching his farewell sermon to his people at Natick, as he is to sail shortly with his wife for China, where they are to take up missionary work.

Children's Meeting.

The first children's meeting was held in the tabernacle at 2 p. m. under the leadership of Miss Florence Thatcher of Jewett City. Mrs. Jane E. Read, who for 35 years led this important meeting, resigning last year on account of her health, was on the platform and led in prayer after the 23d Psalm had been repeated in concert. Her many friends are rejoiced to see that Mother Read has recovered from a recent very severe illness in which her life was despaired of.

Mrs. F. Henry Bushnell of Norwich Town was at the piano. Miss Davis spoke to the children about hearing a little Chinese boy sing in China Jesus Loves Me, This I Know.

Mrs. Annie O. Clark told about a little Indian boy in the least whose first experience in a clean bed was ludicrous. There were hardly more than a dozen young children in the meeting, although there were more of a larger growth. The prevailing epidemic has interfered considerably with their attendance.

The Sunday school held for some five weeks past has hardly averaged a quarter of a hundred from week to week, so far as children are concerned.

Saturday Evening Entertainment.

The tabernacle was well filled Saturday evening when Ernest Nafziger conducted a fine literary and musical entertainment. Rev. Duncan P. Dodd of Natick, president of Norwich District Epworth league, made a few introductory remarks in a pleasing vein, and then presented the following programme: Piano solo, by Miss Ruth E. Bjorklund of Higham; vocal solo, choir leader, if All My Ships Came Home to Me, which was encored; violin solo, by Miss Elizabeth Lane of Norwich, Canto Amoroso, by Sammartini; for an encore she played an English dance. Next an African Love Song, words by Paul Lawrence Dunbar and music by Nevin, was rendered by Mr. Nafziger. An amusing encore, Negro Preacher's Exhortation, set to music. Rev. J. H. Priestly of Wapping gave a humorous reading, The Tiger. His encore was another amusing Tiger story. Mr. Nafziger then sang two solos, Morning and For a Day. The next number was a flag drill prettily executed by sixteen young ladies of the New London Epworth league, with R. B. Hayes leader and Mrs. Thomas Vickery pianist. Each of the performers was clad in a large flag and carried a white pennant bearing the words Epworth League. On their heads they wore tasseled tiles of red and white, the league colors. Part of the march and the Greek cross drill were repeated for the encore.

Past second of the programme consisted of a piano solo by Miss Bjorklund, song When We Go Home, by Mr. Nafziger, violin solo, by Miss Lane, whose encore was Traumerli. Three for Jack was then rendered by Mr. Nafziger. For an encore he sang An Explanation. Rev. Mr. Priestly then gave four humorous selections. Mr. Nafziger sang for the closing number Kipling's Recessional. Miss Bjorklund acted as pianist throughout the evening, save in the flag drill.

Get-Acquainted Social.
The raising of the flag while America was sung constituted the opening of the institute Saturday afternoon. Next came apt words and a prayer by Rev. D. F. Dodd, the president, who stated it was his last institute here, and he wanted it to be the best. Rev. and Mrs. Dodd leave in September for China.

Personals.
Christopher Glenney drove over from Manchester and brought a party of eight in his autotruck Saturday, returning last evening.

Earl Howe of Jewett City is visiting with his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Tracy, at her cottage on Jones avenue.

Rev. R. J. Chrystie and Miss Mattie Horsfield of Mapleville are on the grounds for the week.

At the Manchester house, with Mrs. Rogers in charge, are the Misses Marjory Selaw and Maud Bates of Burnside and Arthur Porter of Portland. Walter Brozyna of Norwich and Miss Flossie Bennett of Norwich Town are waiters at A. D. Zaborski's restaurant. Elsie Harris of Preston acts as cook.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Merrill, Mrs. Emma Mothes, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Avignon motored from Vernon yesterday for the day.

Mrs. Esther Abbey of Manchester has been on the grounds four weeks and will remain until just after the camp meeting closes.

E. L. Tucker of Chestnut Hill is here for all the meetings. He stops at the Johnson house in Willimantic nights, coming to camp daily.

At the South Manchester house, whose caretaker is Mrs. Herbert Hoots, are Mrs. John Humphries, Misses Edith Humphries, Annie Orr, Mary Ritchie, Irene and Elizabeth Buzzell, Gertrude Jackson, Christopher Glenney, Leola House, Olin Gates and Ralph Towle.

Dr. Frank D. Maine of Springfield is at the East Greenwich academy cottage on Church circle. Although he has passed his 76th milestone, the doctor's intellect is as keen as ever, as evinced by a recent publication from his pen with the somewhat formidable title Evolution and Correlation of Phenomena—the Latter Developed and Maintained Largely by Means of External Stimuli.

FASHION NOVELTIES.

Coatees, blouses and cape completed jackets are being given to the tulle and tulle demi-tailored gowns made for the afternoon. Pretty little fancies are expended upon some of the jackets, such as a couple of long ribbon ends slung from the back of the collar, or a waist belt embroidered with beads of many shades.

The popular trimming upon the dress that bears the stamp of refinement and good taste is a straightforward affair, indeed. It is a simple band, or an equally simple piping, set upon the hem of a skirt, flounce, coat basque, hat crown or whatnot.

But there is the usual spice or originality in the material employed, without which there would be none of the charm of novelty. Straw and waxed braid are two of the new resources, and both are seen in the guise of bands for the afternoon. Pretty little fancies are expended upon some of the jackets, such as a couple of long ribbon ends slung from the back of the
